1. Recap session

The welfare team reminded the exec that the bouncy castle had to be cancelled due to the rain on Friday.

The Wii has now been set up and secured in a cabinet specially adapted for the purpose by the maintenance department. The instructions have been amended slightly to avoid over-using the Wii joke. Luke, James and Tom will make a video to show everyone how to use and set up the Wii, including the important rules regarding the key.

The fact that the Wii can now be used will be advertised in ROAR and What's On.

2. Freshers' Week

Freshers' Reps do not need to be selected until 22 June, so the selection is being put back by a few weeks; the College Parents list has been submitted to the Master and Tutors' Committee for approval.

3. Film Festival

Pete mentioned a film festival which is going to be shown in the Arts Picturehouse; the producers are searching for short student-made films. The Master thought Emma students may be interested in this.

This will be advertised in ROAR!

4. Men's South Court Toilets

Pete also brought up the state of the male toilets in South Court. They often smell off-putting and there can be a lot of water on the floor sometimes, despite it being noted that the toilets are cleaned every weekday morning. Pete also noted, however, that his main concern (the lack of a soap dispenser) has been fixed since this item was added to the agenda.

Joe will meet Ann Patten to discuss the remaining issues.

5. EU Election Posters

Luke queried whether the EU election posters can take an anti-BNP/UKIP stance; it was decided that they should remain politically neutral, but can advocate voting against extremists.

Luke will finish the poster design soon and have the posters put up around College in good time before the election.

The meeting closed at 17:30.

Next meeting: 24 May at 5pm
